-When a client has chosen the activity of kayaking in Gray Lake, the guide will analyze the weather forecast prior to the start of the service, and deciding which day will be more convenient to row. In this way, the chances of achieving and fulfilling the client's objective and expectations greatly increase, since they will have a guide and all the necessary permits and equipment, ready and available from their arrival in Puerto Natales and during all the days they have contracted. All inclusive service.

Keep in mind that currently when hiring a kayak excursion in Gray Lake, it may not be possible due to strong winds and in these cases, returning free the next day is not included in the rate, but implies new costs. to be able to repeat the rowing attempt. In these situations, it is that we as guides can better achieve the objectives in this type of activity, when we can decide on our own when to row taking into account the weather conditions, without having additional charges.

The same can happen with passengers who wish to do the Torres base trek, since it is known that it can be cloudy and it is not possible to see the Torres, for this reason the guide will be able to offer the option to the clients to modify the day or the activity to do, managing not to miss the day or taking better advantage of the weather the next day.

All inclusive clients will not have additional charges for repeating or attempting the same excursion twice or for modifying the activities of a booked program.
